THE PARISH OF STUTTON.
PART I.

THE PARISH OF STUTTON.

The parish of Stutton, in Suffolk, is situated in the Hundred of Samford, and is about seven miles from Ipswich. It is bounded on the north by Tattingstone and Holbrook, on the south by the River Stour, on the east by Holbrook, and on the west by Brantham. It contains, according to the apportionment for commutation of tithe, made in 1844, 213 1 acres and 23 perches of cultivated land, of which 1810 acres, 3 roods and 39 perches are arable land; 287 acres, 3 roods and 27 perches are meadow and pasture land; and 32 acres and 37 perches, woodland. The general character of the soil is light, but in some places it is what is technically termed mixed. According to the census taken in 1881 there are 122 inhabited houses, and 12 uninhabited, and the population is 528 — showing a decrease of 3 since the census of 1871.

The charities belonging to this parish are, a piece of land, containing 1 acre, 2 roods and 34 perches, let by the churchwardens and overseers to the rector, at four guineas per annum, and the interest of £100 stock in the three per cent reduced annuities, standing in the names of the rector and churchwardens, which was purchased with money arising from the sale of the old poor-house, and an addition made thereto by the parish. The rent and dividends of the stock were formerly expended partly in the purchase of bread distributed at Christmas, and partly in coals distributed in the winter among poor persons at the discretion of the rector and churchwardens, but the money is now given to the aged and sick poor, and to agricultural labourers with families of three or more children.

The almshouses were built by the Misses Baker, with money left for that purpose by their brother, the Rev. George Baker, who was for some time curate of Stutton, and who died in 1862 at a house in the parish called "The Chestnuts." They consist of comfortable dwellings for six old people of either sex, each of whom receive seven shillings a week. The trustees are the rectors of Stutton, East Bergholt, and Brantham, but the rector of Stutton has the sole right of nomination.

On a stone over the door in the centre of the building, is the following inscription:

THESE ALMS HOUSES FOR POOR INHABITANTS WERE ERECTED AND ENDOWED IN MEMORY OF THE
REV. GEORGE BAKER, B.A.
(LATE OF THIS PARISH)
BY HIS SURVIVING SISTERS, IN AFFECTIONATE COMPLIANCE
WITH HIS EXPRESSED WISH
TO THEM IN HIS LIFE TIME. 1863.

Above are the arms and crest of Baker.
The national schoolhouse was erected by the late rector, the Reverend Thomas Mills, in 1838, and the school was kept up at his sole expense till his death in 1879, since which time the school has been supported by a parish rate, the government grant, and the children’s pence.

The inn stands in the centre of the village, and bears the sign of the King’s Head; it is kept by Richard Gladwell, who is also the parish clerk. It was at one time kept by Nathaniel Dale, and in his time there was a board fixed against the wall outside, on which were the following lines:

“Good people, stop, and pray walk in,
Here’s foreign brandy, rum, and gin;
And, what is more, good purl and ale
Are both sold here by old Nat. Dale.”

A cottage in the village near Crow Hall has the date in plaster 1696. There is a small meeting-house for Wesleyan Methodists, which was built in 1840.

MANORS AND OTHER PROPERTIES.
PART II.

MANORS AND OTHER PROPERTIES.

The parish of Stutton contains six Manors: Alton Hall, Argents, Crepping Hall, Crow Hall, Stutton Hall, and the Rectory, which is a reputed Manor.

Alton Hall is situated at that part of the parish which adjoins Holbrook and Tattingstone. It was formerly the property of James Sewell, Esq., who built a new front to the house, and made other improvements. He resided here for some years, and died in 1806. He was the son of James Sewell, Esq., who obtained this manor by purchase. Upon the death of Mr. Sewell in 1806, this property passed to his eldest daughter, Elizabeth, married to William Deane, Esq., and became their place of residence. After their death, the estate was submitted to public auction in London, but was not sold. It was afterwards purchased by Thomas Burch Western, Esq., who was created a Baronet in 1864; it is now the property of his grandson, Sir Thomas Charles Callis Western, Baronet. The farm consists of 518 acres. In 1845, Mr. Charles Boby became the tenant of this farm, where he resided until his death in 1873; it is now in the occupation of Mr. John South.

Argents appears to have been a manor taking its name from its proprietors; but the manorial rights are now lost. The farm belongs to Thomas Richard Mills, Esq. of Saxham, to whom it descended from the family of Littel, through Mary, daughter of Elliston Barrington, Esq., married to Giles Mills, Esq. The farm consists of 197 acres, and is now in the occupation of Mr. William Cutting.

Crepping Hall stands near the river Stour, between Stutton Hall and Crow Hall; it is an old red brick house of small dimensions. The Manor of Crepping Hall consists of 268 acres, and belongs to the executors of Peter Frederick O'Malley, Esq., who inherited it from his kinswoman, Mrs. Baddeley, the heiress of the family of May, who for many years resided here. The farm is now in the occupation of Mr. Frederick Packard.

Crow Hall stands not far from the banks of the Stour, on gently rising ground. This Manor contains 156 acres, and was formerly the residence of the family of Smythe. The daughter of Sir Thomas Smythe, Knight, married Thomas Harlackenden Bowes, Esq., of Great Bromley, in Essex. In 1821, it was purchased by George Reade, Esq., who materially improved the house, and added a drawing-room, with a richly stuccoed ceiling, in the style of modern Gothic. Over the chimney-piece is carved the crest of Reade, a raven or shoveller. This property now belongs to John Page Reade, Esq., son of George Reade, Esq. Over the entrance, carved in stone, are the arms of Bowes, Ermine, three bows in pale, and under them the date 1665. On a carved panelling, in a lower room, to the right of the entrance, is a coat of arms, quarterly, 1st and 4th a cross, 2nd and 3rd gules, a fess between two chevrons, vairée, impaling, two lions, on a chief, three crowns, patee. The farm is now in the occupation of Mr. Daniel Packard, and the house is inhabited by Mrs. Pigott.

The Manor of STUTTON HALL contains 267 acres, and is the property of Joseph Catt, Esq., who obtained it by purchase from the present Lord Tollemache, who inherited this property from his kinswoman, the late Countess of Dysart. On the north side is a garden, walled in, and opposite the centre of the house, a small gateway for foot-passengers only, built of red brick, somewhat in the style of the gateway at Erwarton Hall. It has similar turrets at the angles, and is evidently of the same date. At the corners, and on other parts of the wall, are pinnacles formed of brickwork of various patterns. The old chimneys of the house still remain, and are very curiously and beautifully wrought, no two of them being alike. The south front, with the exception of the chimneys, has little remains of antiquity. In a room on the ground floor are the arms of Jermy—a lion rampant guardant, impaling, Peye—a fess, in chief three martlets, in base a chevron. In an upper room on the west side, over the fireplace and carved in stone, these same arms occur again. They are the arms of Sir John Jermy, of Brightwell, K.B., and Margaret his wife, daughter and co-heiress of Sir Thomas Peye, of Peldon, Knt.; he was living in 1553. In a room over the hall were formerly some very curious carvings, which were removed in 1841, by the then owner, Lord Tollemache, to Helmingham Hall, where they were placed in the dining-room. There was formerly a grove containing some very fine oak and other trees, extending from the house to the river; and there is also said to have been an avenue of oaks from the house to the Brantham Road. Stutton Hall was formerly the residence of the knightly family of Jermy; it is now unoccupied. There is a legend that a man's head is seen from time to time flit through the kitchen of this house.

QUARHAMS, or the church farm, with 201 acres, belongs to the Rev. Barrington Stopford Thomas Mills, rector of Lawshall in this county, son of the Rev. Thomas Mills, the late rector, who bought it of O'Neil Segrave, Esq. It had previously belonged to Sir John Shawe, Baronet, of Eltham, in Kent, whose ancestor had married the daughter of Sir Samel Barnardiston, Baronet, of Brightwell Hall, in this county, to whom this property belonged.

The QUEECH farm is the property of Joseph Catt, Esq., and is situated near the river towards Brantham. At the end of the last century, when under the tenantry of Mr. King, it was famed for turning out the most perfect specimens of the old Suffolk punch cart-horse.
PART III.

THE CHURCH.
PART III.

THE CHURCH.

STUTTON CHURCH, dedicated to Saint Peter, is built of flints, and the inside is plastered; the nave is floored with white bricks, and the chancel and chapel are paved with tiles. It was benched in 1862, all the old pews being removed, and open benches, of deal stained and varnished, with carved poppy-heads, some of which are old, being substituted. The chancel is paved with Staffordshire tiles, and inside the sacrarium with Mintons tiles.

The Church consists of nave, chancel, and tower; also a chapel and transept on the north side.

The west end of the Nave is used as the vestry, being cut off by the screen which formerly stood between the nave and chancel. This screen was erected by the Rev. Thomas Mills, and was copied from the old screen at Elmsett, in this county, and is of the same style as the decorated west window, which is the oldest in the building. Of the old roof of the nave, the principals only are visible; they are of massive oak timber, with moulded wall-plates, the spaces between being filled with lath and plaster, whitewashed. On the south wall of the nave, near the chancel arch, are traces of the original doorway leading to the rood-loft.

The Font stands near the west end, and appears ancient; the basin is octagon, supported by one pillar in the centre, and eight others round it, at the base is the following inscription on brass:

"AD GLORIAM DEI HANC FONTEM RESTITUERUNT SUSANNAH MILLS ET JULIA FILIAE EJUS, ANNO DOMINI MDCCCXLVIII."

On the north side is a memorial window with the following inscriptions:

"IN MEMORY OF THE REVEREND GEORGE BAKER,
BACHELOR OF ARTS, WHO DIED FEBRUARY 10TH,
1862. AGED 64."

"IN MEMORY OF GEORGE BAKER ESQ., WHO DIED
JULY 13TH, 1834. AGED 85. ALSO OF ANN BAKER
HIS WIFE, WHO DIED JUNE 19TH, 1818. AGED 68."

In a window on the south side are two coats of arms, and another window on the south side has the initials E. F. M., and the date 1863, it was the gift of the Hon. Elizabeth Frances Mills, wife of the late rector.

Under the west window, let into the wall, is a stone, on which is as follows:

THIS CHURCH WAS ENLARGED AND RE-ARRANGED
1862,
THOMAS MILLS, RECTOR,
CHARLES EOBY, | CHURCHWARDENS.
GEORGE STANFORD,
The Lectern, which is of brass, has the following inscription on the base, “The gift of Susanna, widow of Charles Boby, of Alton Hall, Stutton, 1875.”

The Chancel was rebuilt in 1875 at the sole expense of the Rev. Thomas Mills.

In the south wall is fixed the piscina, which was found in pieces in the old wall during the alterations in 1875. On the south side is an organ-chamber containing the organ, which was presented in 1879 by the Hon. Mrs Mills. There is a small door on the south side of this chamber opening into the churchyard, and on the east side is a small window—this, as well as the part of a cross with runic work upon it, which is built into the buttress on the outside of the church, was discovered in 1875.

The Altar is of pitch-pine,—approached by two steps,—and the three foliated openings in front are made to correspond with the foliated head of the piscina openings—a triple cusped head. The communion rail is of pitch-pine, supported on ornamental brass standards. The reredos, erected in 1879, is of Bath stone, and is divided into nine panels with moulded mullions and cusped heads, the whole being uniform in character and dimensions, extending the whole width of the east wall of the chancel, level with the sill of the east window.

The East Window is copied from that of St. James, Icklingham, in this county; but the moulding of the mullions are exactly copied from the old stones found built into the walls of the church. It is of three lights: that in the centre represents our Lord as the Good Shepherd, and those on either side two full-length figures of angels bearing scrolls. Beneath is the following inscription:

“IN LOVING MEMORY OF BETHA, DAUGHTER OF BARRINGTON STOPFORD THOMAS MILLS, & GEORGIANA PENELOPE HIS WIFE, GRANDDAUGHTER OF THOMAS MILLS, PATRON & RECTOR OF THIS PARISH, BORN MAY 14TH, 1851, DIED CHRISTMAS EVE, 1866. OF SUCH IS THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN.”

“E. F. M. IN DEI GLORIAM, 1875.”

This window was the gift of the Hon. Mrs. Mills.

On two windows within the rails, north and south respectively, are the following inscriptions:

“In memory of Thomas Mills Esquire, of Saxham Hall, Suffolk, patron of this Church, died Jan., nth, mdcxxxiv, aged lxxiv yrs. and of Susanna his wife, who died July xxvii, mdcclxvii, aged lxxix yrs.”

On another window on the south side is as follows:

"In memory of Elizabeth
Viscountess Barrington.
Died March 1st, mdcxxxi."

"In memory of George, fifth
Viscount Barrington, died at Home, March viii, mdcxxix."

The Chancel has an open timber roof, covered with diagonal boarding, and divided into three bays, with curved and moulded ribs; it is of deal, stained and varnished.

Below the east window, built into the wall on the outside, is the consecration stone, with a cross on it, of the decorated period, which was found during the alterations in 1875.

The Transept is in the early English style, in accordance with the general character of the building, and has an open-timbered roof of deal, stained and varnished.

The window at the north end was the gift of the Hon. Lady Middleton; under it, on a stone let into the wall, is the following inscription:

"This Transept was built
To the glory of God:
In the year of our Lord,
1862.
The North Window of this Transept
Was presented by
The Honorable Anne Middleton,
Widow of
Sir William Fowle F. Middleton, Bart.
Of Shrubland Park, in this county."

On the west side are two lancet windows with the arms of Tollemache and Western.

The Chapel on the north side of the chancel was erected in 1875, when the chancel was rebuilt, both at the sole expense of the Rev. Thomas Mills. It opens into the chancel by an arch, and also into the transept, the roof is an open-timbered one, bordered, of deal, stained and varnished.

The North Window has the following inscriptions:

"In memory of Anne wife of the Reverend Thomas Mills, Rector of this Parish, died May viii, mdcxxvii."

"In memory of Elizabeth Susanna
Harrington, daughter of Thomas and Anne Mills, died March xxvii: mdcxxvi."

On two lancet windows, right and left, are the arms of Mills and Barrington.

The east window represents the Crucifixion; it was formerly the chancel window, but was moved to its present position in 1875; at the top on a scroll is the following:

"The humble thank offering of Thomas and Elizabeth Frances Mills."
Above this window is a small quatrefoiled opening with the arms of Berners.

In this chapel is the hatchment to the first wife of the late rector.

The roof of the chapel is similar to that of the chancel.

The Tower, which is of the perpendicular style, stands on the south side of the nave near the west end, and the only entrance to the church, except the small chancel door, is through it. It is built of flints with Bath-stone dressings, square and embattled, and has two buttresses on the south side, and a handsome stone arch which forms the entrance to the church. It contains five bells thus inscribed:

1. MILES GRAYE MADE ME, 1684.
2. CHARLES NEWMAN MADE ME, 1692.
3. HENRY PLEASANT MADE ME, 1706.
4. MILES GRAYE MADE ME, 1684.
5. MILES GRAYE MADE ME, 1684.

THE RECTORY HOUSE AND LIST OF RECTORS.
PART IV.
THE RECTORY HOUSE
AND LIST OF RECTORS.

THE Rectory House of Stutton was built by the Rev. Tobias Rustat, who was presented to the living in 1748. It is situated on the banks of the river Stour, which here forms an estuary of the sea; and the grounds extend to the water's edge, from which may be seen on a clear day the redoubt at Harwich, and a distant view of the ocean. In 1820 it became the residence of the Rev. Thomas Mills, who added considerably to the house. He died in 1879. The present rector is the Honble Walter William Brabazon Ponsonby. The garden and pleasure grounds are large, and contain some very fine specimens of exotic trees. There are three beautiful cedars of Lebanon; a cypress, which is supposed to be the largest in England; three unusually large tulip-trees; a Portugal laurel, the foliage of which spreads to the immense circumference of 320 feet; several red cedars; Scotch and silver firs; pinasters; a standard fig-tree, with two large stems; and a group of ilexes, which were raised from acorns gathered from a tree at Trimley, in this County, the first known in England, and which is said to have been raised from an acorn brought over by Cavendish the circumnavigator, and companion of Sir Francis Drake. Most of these trees, now so conspicuous for their beauty and dimensions, were planted by the Rev. Tobias Rustat, who also laid out the grounds; the Rev. Thomas Mills paid great attention to all these rare and handsome trees, and added considerably to their number.
